A primary research project to assess the preparation of radiographers when interacting with LGBTQ+ patients in the imaging department

I am conducting a final year BSc research project at University of Portsmouth entitled 'A primary research project to assess the preparation of radiographers when interacting with LGBTQ+ patients in the imaging department' and would like to invite you to complete and share my questionnaire. The study aims to collect data on whether radiographers are given the correct training and tools to provide an inclusive environment when interacting with LGBTQ+ patients through the imaging department.

It is anonymous and will take approximately 10 minutes to complete. It is open to all HCPC-registered Radiographers working in hospitals anywhere in the UK.

Additional information about the study can be found on the front page of the questionnaire. Please use this link to access the questionnaire:

As this study relies on people sharing the information and link, please could you consider also sending and/ or sharing on social media this information to others in your contacts who might want to take part? This way, a more comprehensive and rounded view of radiographers' preparation when interacting with LGBTQ+ patients.

If you have any questions about the study, please do not hesitate to contact me at up2056661@myport.ac.uk or my supervisor Laura.knight@port.ac.uk
